SKILLS

I am an experienced WordPress plugin developer with a strong foundation built since 2021, specializing in premium WordPress plugins, React, and Vue applications. My expertise extends to effectively developing Next.js applications, where I leverage cutting-edge technology to build my online presence. Recently, I have been expanding my skill set by learning Shopify application development.

Driven by a strong passion for web development, I bring projects to life from initial planning through to completion, consistently focusing on quality and client satisfaction. I am confident in tackling a wide range of WordPress projects and am motivated to innovate and exceed expectations with each new challenge.
